1. On the football field

This is what I want to do. Forever. Ever since my parents gave me a football, I have been hooked and now I can't stop playing it. I play football every day but I play it in my football team four times a week. I like learning new tricks and skills, because no one is perfect. I always like to improve. When I grow up, I want to play for a really famous football team. But I know that I need to practice a lot – that's why I never do the same exercise twice. I come up with new exercises that tests my skills and makes me learn new stuff. The only thing that I have done more than one time on the football field is playing a football match. I count all of my goals and I have now scored 97 goals! That's a lot, I think.
