4. Mark the correct text that the weather forecast images describe.

Text 1 The weather is getting better this weekend. Even though it's autumn, you won't experience too cold temperatures or rain. On Saturday, the wind speed will be at almost 0 meters per second, and on Sunday, the temperature can rise to over 15 degrees! When the week starts, you will see an increased wind speed but a stable temperature and no rain at all.

Text 2 It's hot outside! It's summer! The school just ended, and the students and the rest of you will get a really good weather. Last week, measurements proved that there is on average twenty degrees in the water! This week, we are providing you with the temperature, the weather forecast and the approximate water temperature. We don't have to provide you with the wind speed because the wind will have a speed of around two to four meters per second every day of the week!
