

Think outside the box!

You have gotten a personal invitation to the Next Future Innovation competition*, and your task is to come up with an invention that can change the future. Write down the following:

- What your invention does
- How your invention will improve the daily life of people and/or change the future
- A short paragraph about who you are. Here, you can come up with something such as all the prizes you have “won” for being a successful inventor.

Write your text using the area below.
