In our work, you have lots of pride. I have worked for others for over 15 years. Now, I have my own place where I cook and greet my guests every day. It is wonderful to hear that the guests enjoy my food. That truly warms my heart!

My name is Anastasia. I work in healthcare and my job involves making patients feel well. I have this job because I love to help people and cure their illness. I love the feeling when I have helped someone feel better!

I may work as a seller, but I care about that my customers get something they will enjoy the rest of their life. What I sell will go many miles and I genuinely like my work. I also have a speciality... cars from the 1950s. I own one myself, too.

Has something run into trouble? I can fix it. The last years, the demand for people like me has increased dramatically. I work for both old ladies who are new to this stuff, and experienced companies. Because everybody can run into trouble...
